Film Workshops

The Shared Lives Activities Film Workshops offers the possibility for people to explore their creativity and learn new skills in a relaxed and friendly environment.

The workshops are user-led and the projects are decided by the group or individual.

Within the group (averaging 2-3 people), up-most care will be taken to match people appropriately; based on their personalities, ways of working and interests. We will check members are comfortable working with each other and seek their opinion on potential referrals when possible.

People that require personal space will be facilitated and with the exception of some production, much of the workshops are conducted in a quiet and relaxed setting, with support matched to their needs at a level that they are comfortable with.

Workshop members are able to dictate the focus and pace of the day, giving people the freedom and time to explore ideas and make decisions on storylines and techniques.

There are many aspects to film making people can try, they might want to concentrate on one interest or try different roles and skills:
Acting, Animation, Camera Operator, Directing, Editing, Prop Making, Scriptwriting, Sound Recording, Special Effects, Storyboarding, Visual Effects.
